NEAL AND TAYLOR AT THE TABERNACLE FRIDAY EVENING.

The panic of 1873 was under Republican rule; the panic of 1890 was under Republican rule; and the panic of 1893 was under Republican rule. All the hard times and all the paucity for the last twenty years were under laws passed by Republicans. Do we want more of their laws, policies or panics?—Plain Dealer.

Hon. Louis B. Wilhelm, of Akron, candidate for member of the Board of Public Works of Ohio on the Democratic ticket, was in Toledo yesterday calling on his friends. Mr. Wilhelm said that he has made a thorough canvass of the State and feels quite certain that the Democratic State ticket is stronger today than it was one year ago.

Certain Republicans of Carroll county are circulating the story that our staunch, able and steady-going Democrat, Hon. A. R. Haines, of Church Hill farm, near Malvern, has left the Democratic party. We are authorized by Mr. Haines to deny this with emphasis. He is an enthusiastic Democrat, and is working for the whole ticket.

Gov. McKinley is deficient in two essential qualifications necessary to make a good Governor. He possesses no executive ability and is a very imperfect judge of men. This is amply proven by the scandals that have disgraced the penitentiary, the Adjutant General's office and the Inspector of Shops, under his management.—Springfield Democrat.

The feeling is growing in Canton every day that Mr. Rowlen should be left at home. He is not built for a statesman, and his action in defeating the project for new fair grounds for Stark county, is hurting him more than ever, since the late fair has lost the Association some $1,500. The horse and cattle men of Stark county have no further use for Mr. Rowlen.

Even Cap. Lyon, of the Newark American, the Republican organ of Licking county, concedes that "every farmer, every manufacturer, every business man, whether he works with muscle or brain, in America, has been a serious sufferer" since the passage of the McKinley bill for the protection of monopoly. And Capt. Lyon served in McKinley's regiment during the war.

As Gov. McKinley refused to prosecute W. Z. McDonald for stealing $4,000 from the State, the Democratic prosecuting attorney of Franklin county has taken the matter in hand, and this particular Republican "statesman" will probably be indicted by the Franklin county grand jury. Then watch out for a big development of raceability, in which McDonald will figure as a cat's paw.

The last ditch organs are now writing down Neal's meetings as small affairs, and writing up McKinley's meetings as great omissions, in which the entire populace, men, women and children are half frantic with enthusiasm over the great tin plate idol. It will be remembered that this dodge was played very generally in the campaign of 1889. Faraker was written up in gorgeous prose, and his meetings represented as always too big for the halls, while Jimmy Campbell only talked to a few doleful Bourbons, who usually left in the middle of the discouraged Jimmie's remarks. What was the result? Why, Jimmie had about 11,000 plurality over Faraker. Now the real facts are, Neal is having large and enthusiastic meetings everywhere, and he is gaining votes every day, and the Republican leaders know it. There is not an intelligent Republican in Ohio, who does not know that McKinley's administration is a dismal failure, and in private they generally admit it.

NEAL AND TAYLOR AT THE TABERNACLE FRIDAY EVENING.

SENATOR STEWART'S amendment to the Wilson-Voorhees bill, provides for the inviting of Mexico, the South and Central American republics, Hayti, and San Domingo to join the United States in a conference, to be held within four months, for the purpose of adopting a common silver dollar of not more than 353.13 grains, which shall be legal tender for all debts, public and private.

Was there ever in any county in the state of Ohio, or for that matter in any other state, a county ticket which was more one-sided and sectional than the present Republican ticket of this county?—Massillonian.

We are at liberty to say that there never was. We also feel called upon to state that it was nominated by a minority of the Republican votes of Stark county.

Do not forget the date of Neal and Taylor's meeting in Canton, Friday evening, Oct. 6th. This is Neal's only meeting in Stark county in this campaign. His speech will cover the live issues of the campaign, including the one vital question of the proper administration of our State government by the officials elected for that purpose, and that purpose only. Col. Taylor, who is an old soldier, is liable to say something on the pension question.

If we have been buying gold and paying for it with 60 cent wheat let not the farmer cry out against the Democratic administration. Democracy is not responsible for 60 cent wheat, nor 60 cent dollars, nor 20 cent wool. These things have naturally come upon the country as the legitimate product of thirty years of interference with legitimate trade and defiance of the rules of honest finance. Four times within the past score of years the business of the country has been stagnated, for which Republican legislation was alone responsible.—Massillonian.

The Chicago Tribune, one of the leading Republican papers of the northwest, has this to say on the pension question:

"There are men on the rolls receiving $12 a month who never fired a shot, who never did anything to injure the enemy, who never saw a confederate soldier and whose health today is just as good as it would have been had they never been mustered into the service. It is an outrage on the tax-payers that such things should be."

There are more howlers against pensions in the great metropolitan Republican newspapers, than in the Democratic dailies, in the ratio of about three to one.

A SCARE THAT SHOULD NOT SCARE.

Some leading Republicans are trying to rope in some of the disaffected ones toward Doll, for sheriff, by claiming that the election of a Republican sheriff will financially cripple the Democrat Publishing Co. and prove a bonanza to the Repository. Probably some persons believe this. But it has no substance, just the same. The loss of the sheriff's patronage in this office, would not begin to equal the loss of patronage of one Republican merchant in Canton, we could name. The sheriff's patronage in Stark county does not amount to enough all told to pay the running expenses of the office for ten days, and it would not reduce the profits of our aggregate business for the year over 1/4 per cent. The cost of running the DEMOCRAT PUBLISHING CO. last year was, in round numbers, $34,000, with no allowance for rent. Add reasonable rentage and it amounts to $35,000. Our expenses average $112 per day for every working day of the year, all of which, including labor and material, must be paid in cash. In the present year we have received, all told, from the sheriff's patronage the princely sum of $905, or about enough to pay our current expense account for eight days, and $9 for soup money. Now these are statistics that talk. So far as the patronage of the sheriff's office is concerned let no disgruntled Republican think for a moment that there lurks in its bowels any bonanza for the poor printer. It will not add any perceptible fullness to our pocket-book, if we win, or any hungry leanness if lost. Perhaps this may be an eye-opener to some overly wise saws, who imagine that the lubrication of our machinery depends upon court house grease.

TIRED OF BOODLE POLITICS.

It is generally conceded by all patriotic citizens, who believe in honest government and in fair political methods that we have had too much of boodle politics in Stark county.

There are signs of a wholesome reaction, and it is to be hoped that these signs will not fall off good results. Many of our worthy young men in the Republican party who believe that capacity, honest work and conscientious devotion to the party interests should be recognized, when offices of honor and profit are to be dispensed, are very thoroughly disheartened over the political methods which prevail, of rewarding only those who have the spot cash to reward the beggars for boodle.

It is a deplorable condition of affairs. In a free country, and the sooner it is ended the better it will be for public morals and the well being of society. Take the case of McDonald. Here was a man who was holding a responsible position of honor and profit, under Gov. McKinley. He adopted a system of small stealing, by raising the touchers of his assistants, scattered all over the State, and pocketing the surplus. When caught he was allowed to return the stolen money and quietly resign.

Why did not Gov. McKinley prosecute him and lodge him in the pen, where he belongs?

Because McDonald claimed he had donated his ill gotten money to the Republican campaign fund.

Here is where we get the result of boodle politics. It makes men dishonest. It taints our office holders with dishonor, and lowers the value of our manhood and the sacred character of citizenship.

It is a very serious matter, and too much cannot be said in condemnation of the system.

We are glad therefore to note some evidences of an awakening in Stark Co. on the vicious character of the system, for which Gov. McKinley cannot escape a share of the responsibility.

Take the leading candidates on the Republican county ticket, and what encouragement do these candidates hold up to any young man of moral character and merit, if he is poor. They hold up nothing but discouragement.

Not that they are not honest men and of good character, as the world judges men, but the point is, they were not nominated because of their character or qualities, but because they are flush of spot cash to put into the campaign.

Do not mistake our point. It is this: Merit, ability and patriotism should be taken into account in a free representative government in selecting our representative officers.

A man of money should not be discriminated against because he has money; neither should a young man of character and ability be turned down because he does not happen to have money.

It is well known to the majority of our voters that some of the present Republican ring ticket was nominated simply because the candidate had a big bank account.

Now we insist that it is unfair to our voters that the gifts of all the people, gifts paid for by the taxation of all the people, to a few rich men.

Now is a good time to make a new departure. The right kind of a ballot will do it, in November.

BEYOND THE HOPE OF RESURRECTION.

Occasionally a gleam of mirth and a ray of hope illuminates the gloom of our great National fog bank, the Senate. Yesterday Mr. Duff, of Oregon, he of the wabbling gait and yellow chin whiskers, was speaking of the g. o. p., or a section of it, on the Sherman repeal bill. In the most dismal marshes of his intangible dreariness he said:

"Had the Minneapolis platform had been believed to mean free coinage, the Republican party would have been dead and buried and damned beyond the hope of resurrection."

To this insincere inanity of the kindergarten statesman from the wilds of Oregon, Senator Teller, a silver State Republican, replied. "Any worse than this is now."

And not a soulless soul, from John Sherman to little Frye, made any reply. The galleries laughed, Don Cameron nodded assent, and Gorman and Dave Hill looked pleased, but no one disputed the apter aphorism of the astute Teller.

BEWARE OF THE CHARMER.

The Republicans of Ohio are flattered with hopes of success because Governor McKinley is drawing big crowds to his meetings. He always does that. He is a good talker, a nice kind of a man to look at and never fails to get a crowd. In 1892 the people flocked to hear him wherever he spoke, and then turned around and voted against his bill.—Kansas City Star.

Our western observer is right. In 1890 McKinley was hailed as a hero of Protection, from Bangor, Maine, to St. Joseph, Missouri. No man ever had such ovations. And yet, when the votes were counted, it was found that with only one exception, every Republican Congressman was defeated in every district where McKinley spoke. The exception was that of Julius C. Burrows of the Kalamazoo (Mich.) district. This is the record. Why just think of the crowd the female snake charmer drew, on the public square in Canton, and yet how few of our married men would trade their better halves for a snake charmer.

NEAL AND TAYLOR IN CANTON.

Remember—Hon. Lawrence T. Neal, our nominee for Governor, and Col. Wm. A. Taylor, our nominee for Lieutenant Governor, will speak at the Tabernacle in Canton on Friday evening, October 6th. Capt. B. S. Shields will preside. Everybody and his wife are invited. Do not forget the date.

WHAT THE MCKINLEY BILL HAS DONE FOR THE COUNTRY.

From the Hesperian Forum.

This McKinley tariff law has been in working order about three years and in that time it has succeeded in closing nearly every iron mill, woolen factory and cotton mill in the country. It has caused hundreds of banks to close their doors and thousands of dealers to assign; it has thrown tens of thousands of workmen out of employment and brought a reduction in wages in nearly all departments of manufacture; it has reduced the price of wool from thirty-five cents a pound to twenty cents; it has brought about the financial ruin of Hon. Chas. Foster and made a bankrupt of McKinley himself, the author of the law.

ruin was foretold by the leaders of the Democratic party as the natural result of the passage of the McKinley bill and were it not for the fact that the country has confidence in the utter blotting out of the pernicious elements of this McKinley tariff law, and other bad Republican legislation, the work of financial destruction would still be going on.

VIEWS OF TWO OF THE GREATEST REPUBLICANS ON MCKINLEYISM.

In regard to the hearings accorded the protectionists by the committee on Ways and Means it might be well to recall the words of James A. Garfield, spoken at a time when he was on a similar committee. His words, spoken in all truth and soberness, were:

"There has not been a man or a delegation before us this winter to get new duties put on, or old ones raised, but come in the basest selfishness without a thought or care but to raise the price of his own goods to his countrymen."

It was that other eminent Republican, James G. Blaine, who said: "This McKinley bill is the most infamous piece of legislation that was ever proposed to be fastened upon any people. It does not furnish a market for a bushel of American wheat or a pound of American pork."

HIGH REPUBLICAN AUTHORITY.

The tariff bill which the lamented Blaine characterized as "driving idleness" will soon be wiped out of existence. It is interesting to note in this connection some of the statements of the public men of the Fiftieth Congress, when the bill was up for consideration. Senator Plumb, of Kansas, who has since gone to his reward, on August 15, 1890, said:

"I would say, if I were to speak from my own information and judgment and belief, that the duty on sheet-iron together with free tin ore or tin pig, was sufficient, together with the protection afforded by transportation, to enable the manufacturer to do this if he chose to work for a reasonable profit; but, as a rule, he is not willing to work for a reasonable profit. We have had that demonstrated over, and over again."

"I know it is heretical, Mr. President, to doubt the propriety of conceding anything that the manufacturers ask. But I also know that not one single consumer of tin in this continent has asked for that increase of duty. The volume of testimony taken does not disclose one, the newspapers of the country have not brought him to view and public opinion does not demand it."

Senator Plumb was a Republican, and as such represented the State of Kansas in the upper House. He was never charged with being untrue to his convictions and his outspoken statements on the tariff question, quoted above, had the effect of partially ostracizing him from the high tariff protectionists.

A DEFENSE OF SENATORS MILLS GORDON AND HUNTER.

From The South-West.

Much credit is due to Senator Mills of Texas, for his brave stand in behalf of the repeal of the Sherman silver purchasing act. Mr. Mills comes from a State where the President has been burned in effigy. The people of that section are the most rabid inflationists in the country, but in spite of the warnings and threatenings of his constituents Senator Mills has followed the plain line of his duty. For the present his course will prove unpopular in Texas, but he will have the satisfaction of knowing that he is doing his part to restore confidence and give the country a stable currency. By the time his term expires his deluded fellow-citizens will have learned that he was right, and he will, if a candidate, be triumphantly re-elected. Gordon of Georgia is another Southern Senator of the same kind. Hunton of Virginia has also braved public opinion in his own State, to support the President in his demands.

HISTORY WILL REPEAT HERSELF.

How the Old Thing Always Works in Ohio.

From the New York Sun.

General Noyes was chosen Governor in 1871. He was defeated in 1873. William Allen, elected in 1873, was defeated in 1875. Hayes, who had previously been elected in 1875, was installed as President in 1877. The Republican nominee, Judge West, put up to succeed him was defeated by Bishop, the Democratic candidate in 1877, and the State administration passed into Democratic hands. But the Democrats were unable to hold it for more than two years, for in 1879 Charles Foster, Republican, was chosen Governor, and he was re-elected in 1881. In 1883 Democrats elected Hoadley, who defeated Foraker. In 1885 Foraker defeated Hoadley. In 1887 Foraker was re-elected. In 1889 the Democrats elected James E. Campbell, defeating Foraker. In 1891 there was another shift, and McKinley defeated Campbell, and this year, if past records and knowledge of present conditions count for anything, McKinley will be defeated by Neal, and the State administration will once more pass into Democratic hands.

GOV. MCKINLEY ON GOLD.

From the Toledo News, (Ind.)

Governor McKinley is credited with the statement last night in Cleveland that "we have $700,000,000 in gold in circulation." Where is this gold circulating? Who ever sees it? We have only $8,000,000 silver dollars in circulation, less than one twelfth the amount of gold said by McKinley to be in circulation, yet we see ten dollars silver to one of gold. Gold is certainly more convenient for purposes of general circulation than silver. A $20 gold piece is much more convenient to carry about than are twenty silver dollars. If we have in circulation $12 of gold to $1 of silver, why is it that nobody can get hold of it?

The fact is that this $700,000,000 gold circulation is a gilded falsehood. It is a premeditated lie, uttered to deceive. The best financial authorities say that we have not in this country half that amount of gold, and the probabilities are that $300,000,000 gold would be entirely too high an estimate.

All McKinley's financial arguments are based on this gilded falsehood, just as his tariff arguments are based on the assumption that the foreign exporter pays the tariff tax.

Governor McKinley should remember that while all the people are not fully posted on these questions, and that while many are willing to swallow a good deal of campaign buncombe for party sake, they are not ready to submit to a pure game of bunco.

These are serious questions and the public, Republicans as well as Democrats, are regarding them seriously. Governor McKinley should remember much information on finance and tariff has found its way down among the people. It is pretty well known that we are engaged in a struggle between the people and plutocracy. Governor McKinley represents plutocracy. The grand central idea on which the whole fabric of his politics is constructed, is the assumption that everybody can be made prosperous, happy and content by making the few immensely rich.

A DANGEROUS ELEMENT

To be Confined in the Penitentiary, for the Protection of Citizens.

A subject of considerable importance to the tramp legion was settled in mayor's court this morning. Henry Clark, a tramp who alleges he came to be in Pittsburgh, was arrested a few days ago on the charge of begging and using threatening language. Clark is a middle aged man, rather rough in appearance, inclined to insolence when spoken to. Attorney Nat McLain represented Mr. Brainerd Root before the mayor. After hearing the evidence and listening to a competent and thorough interpretation of the statutes by the attorney, Mayor Cassidy bound Clark over to probate court for hearing in the sum of $500. He was unable to furnish bail and was remanded to jail. It appears that an example will be made by the mayor of a few of these rascals and under Section 6885 of the statutes it is proposed to send them over the road when possible in order to rid citizens of this dangerous element. This action of the mayor is commendable.

This is a meaningless sentence, but it contains all the letters of the alphabet. Five of these letters spell "woman," and large numbers of women believe in the virtues of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—a strictly vegetable compound, for her use only, and an unfailing cure for the many ills that beset her. It restores wasted strength, restores the functions to a normal condition, and fits her to bear and rear healthy offspring; promotes digestion, purifies the blood, and gives activity to the bowels and kidneys. In a word, it is woman's cure and safeguard. Guaranteed to give satisfaction, or its price ($1.00) refunded.

GOOD NEWS

From every quarter we hear of mills re-opening, banks that had suspended re-opening, and all along the line a better feeling, taking the place of that panicky feeling that was all-prevailing. Canton stood the shock far better than the majority of cities, and while some of our shops were closed, none failed—our stores, and our transactions are conservative, we have no town built on wild-cat booms, but one based on a firm foundation.

Work Was Scarce

The entire summer, and now, even if the shops all run full, it will take some time for our men to achieve all they lost by their enforced rest.

We Appreciate

That to do business, we must meet the times, and we offer our entire stock at 10 PER CENT above cost, and are positive that an inspection of our grand stock will satisfy the closest buyer that we are in earnest, and offering all we promise.

A DOLLAR

Has greater value now than at any time in the past twenty years, and you want as much for your dollar as you can possibly get.

We Defy Competition

To meet our prices—our goods are too well known for us to blow about their quality—our trade speaks for us.

Without a Competitor.

Dr. Price's
Cream Baking Powder

Is so far beyond other brands of baking powders in its purity, wholesomeness and leavening power that it is practically without a competitor. Adulteration prevails to such an extent that the consumer in many sections is at the mercy of the vendors of the ammonia and alum baking powders. Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is the only powder prepared by a physician of high standing, and almost the only pure Cream of Tartar powder to be obtained.
